LSU MBAA Officers Elections

April 14, 2010

Treasurer

Dear MBAA members,

I am honored to be nominated for Treasurer, and I really appreciate your consideration. As a member of MBAA, I get a lot of professional advice and academic help as well as a lot of fun. I cannot wait to have an opportunity to serve the program and my fellow classmates back. The reason of running for treasurer is that this is the position that I can bring my best to contribute to the MBA program. My ultimate goals as treasurer of MBAA, if elected, are keeping precise financial records and being available for all members' opinions and concerns.

As a master's in Accounting, you can expect me to keep an accurate record of receipts, disbursements, and other financial figures with Excel; you can expect me to publish a budget with other officers, and hold them accountable for the fund used in any activities; you can also expect me to keep everyone updated as to the progress of our financial status, when requested and always for meetings. I worked as an auditor in a CPA firm before I went to the graduate study. I used to manage funds for a student organization in my college, so I am familiar with the processes of budgeting, recording and reporting.

Except fulfilling the technique requirement for this position, I understand the importance of member's involvement through the financial process, and I will continue to work towards monitoring the use of funds and the accountability of officers in the perspective of the members. I have an open mind that welcomes all members for monitoring and feedback for my ethics in work and behavior. A vote for me is an assurance that you will have someone you can come to at any time to discuss whatever issues concern you.

My best qualifies to this position is the ability to demand accountability. I always check back to see if I am following my duties as a team-player, as an employee, as a student and as a leader in the organization. I am the type of person who is plan-oriented and is quick to see something out of order. In order to be an effective association to serve the program and all members, the officers are on a team and everyone must act as a team and perform all their duties. I would like to meet with other officers regularly and ensure that things are running smoothly. I would also like to raise awareness about the feedbacks from members and help members feel connected in this association. The team is always on the top of my prior list, and I value integrity as my No.1 asset.

I strongly believe that previous treasurers have done a tremendous job, but change is always what we should consider for. I notice our budget is based on a fixed budgeting method that we are forming our budget on the base of last year's budget. I would make sure the budget is aligned with member preferences.

Both my past experience and passion to accomplish my goals promise best service to the MBAA in the treasurer position. I would gladly take the responsibility and serve as the treasurer in MBAA. I pledge that I will keep precise financial records and make sure the fund is used to the best interests of the members. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Danping Yu
